State Should

Withdraw Claim on

Proving Ground

As reported by the Associated Press in Sunday's newspapers either the State of Arkansas withdraws its claim to the firing-range land of the Southwestern Proving Ground or there will be concerted local action to block congressional approval of the Whitney bill on which the state bases its claim.

Talbot Field, Jr., one of Hempstead county's legislators, was quoted in the Sunday AP dispatch as follows:

"Nothing will satisfy Hempstead county short of absolute withdrawal of Commission Chairman Hendrix Layley's claim in behalf of the state government. (Resources & Development Commission).

"From the day that the federal government condemned 50,000 acres of our county for construction of a war plant, we were promised by all public officials that in event of the liquidation of that plant the former owners would be given first chance to repurchase their land."

"If that promise is going to be broken then we shall appeal to Senators McClellan and Fulbright and Congressman Harris to block the War Assets Administration from disposing of it without the state government. What all of down here are trying to do is to help Congressman Harris carry out his original idea—to get the federal government to decontaminate areas made dangerous by unexploded bombs and shells."

"I have been approached by former landowners of the Proving Ground area to arrange mass meetings and look into legal action, but have advised them to put this off until next (this) week, by which time we will know whether the state is going to withdraw its claim."

Earlier, there was an equally definite statement from the other Hempstead county legislator, Glen Walker, who wrote Governor Ben Laney in a letter published February 1 as follows:

"In Hempstead county understand that in some other parts of the world the government does not care to dedicate property without inquiry of or regard for either the wishes or welfare of the people in the locality concerned."

"We're shocked, however, when it happens in Arkansas. While thousands of Hempstead county citizens, former owners and veterans, are hopefully trying to get back their farms and homes in the Southwest Proving Ground area, which they had to give up on account of the war, a bureaucratic brainstrom from our own state government suddenly swoops down upon us in the form of a proceeding to make our farmlands and homes belong to the state."

"This land is of vital importance to the citizens of Hempstead county and southwest Arkansas, and we are calling this matter especially to your attention in the hope that the more rational elements of our state government will take steps to nullify this proceeding without delay."

"Sunday I forwarded to Senators McClellan and Fulbright and Congressman Harris a file of newspaper reports covering this controversy so they would be informed in the event we have to ask for action in Washington. I wrote the congressional delegation, in conclusion:

"The farmers were promised all along they would have first chance to repurchase this land, and the state's intervention, even though it should affect only 4,000 or so of the 35,000 acres, has caused real anxiety — for the Federal Land Bank this weekend stopped all appraising and survey work."

To Probe Blast That Killed 8 Arkansas Miners

Greenwood, Feb. 9—(UPI)—Investigators will go into the Sunshine coal mine near here today seeking the cause of an explosion that killed eight miners, three of them brothers.

The blast occurred yesterday afternoon as the day and night shifts were preparing to change. All the dead were day workers. Three night shift miners, who had entered the mine a few minutes before the accident escaped injury.

It was believed to have been the worst coal mine disaster in Arkansas since 10 miners perished in an explosion at Bates, south of here, in 1940.

Greenwood is 20 miles south of Fort Smith, Ark., and near the Arkansas-Oklahoma border.

The dead: Joe Williams, 32, Bonanza, Ark., day shift fireman; Matt Denne, 43, Hackett, Ark., Hackett; Earl Fish, about 30, Bonanza; Ralph Morelock, about 30, Hackett, and three brothers, Frank, Louis and Albin Grilic all of Jemison, Ark., Hackett and Jenny.

The Sunshine mine is a sloping 4,000 foot shaft and its terminus is about 400 feet below the surface. Mine Owner E. N. Noels, Fort Smith said it was the first serious accident in the 10-year history of the mine.

The bodies were recovered within six hours after the blast.

J. D. (Peg) Williams was a member of the party which brought out the first two bodies. One of them was that of his brother, Joe.

Noels said ordinarily 80 men work in each shift, but the mine was undergoing development and that accounted for the small crew on duty yesterday.

The explosion occurred about 3:30 p.m. at the time night shift Foreman Fred Becker, his son, Herbert, and Otto Timmons, were in the mine, en route to work in a trip car. Fred Becker hurried to the entrance to give an alarm while the younger Becker and Timmons proceeded to erect brattices to hold back gas fumes. They were joined a few minutes later by J. D. Williams.

As they moved down the slope, they found the bodies of Joe Williams and Denne. The hot after-damp gas halted them, and they had to await a rescue team equipped with masks and other equipment.

Farther along, the bodies of Winters, Morelock and Fish were discovered. The last bodies, those of the Grilic brothers, were recovered near the end of the tunnel.

The Portable Iron Lung, though comparatively new, on the civilian market, proved its effectiveness during World War II when it was used by the Army Air Forces to transport stricken men back to the States. Not only does it work with the efficiency of the "boiler" type lung found in most large metropolitan hospitals, but the Mullikin Lung comes compactly packed in two leather cases, weighing but 85 pounds, and thereby can be carried to the scene of the emergency, providing "on the spot" care of patients suffering with respiratory ailments such as polio, suffocation, post-operation pneumonia, etc.

The Mullikin Portable Lung is especially effective in cases of drowning, electrocution and carbon monoxide poisoning, and is used on new-born babies when respiratory difficulties are encountered. The Lung comes equipped with a 110 volt motor and a 6 volt motor, the latter to be used when only current from an ordinary car battery is available. The Lung can also be hand operated in cases of emergency.

Our VFW Post explained that the Mullikin Portable Lung carries an unusual and rather unique guarantee.

Not only is it guaranteed for two years of continuous operation, but in the event of an emergency or epidemic, the manufacturers will ship up to five lungs into Hope, free of charge.

We are of the opinion that this should provide a good safeguard in the event of a polio epidemic or something equally disastrous. It may be that this Portable Lung will not be used in this community more than two or three times per year.

Regardless, it is the opinion of the VFW, and this newspaper, that though it saves one life a year, it is well worth thousand times the amount of money the VFW are endeavoring to raise in the short drive. The satisfaction of having a piece of life-saving equipment of this type available is most certainly something to consider and Hope and surrounding communities cannot afford to fail in this Community Iron Lung drive.

The Iron Lung will cost $2,000 delivered and if we know this community we'll reach the long before Saturday evening rolls around.

"Buy a Share and Save a Life," Mail checks to: Sylvie Burke, Commander of VFW Post; LaGrone Williams, Hope Hardware; Chief of Fire Department.

1948 Potato Crop Goals to Be Established

Goals for the 1948 Irish Potato crop will be established for individual farms, according to Earl Martindale, chairman of the County Triple-A Committee. Farm goals of three acres or more will be set on the basis of the 1947 farm goals with adjustments.

Goals for other potato farms will be the 1942 acreage or 2.9 acres which ever is the smaller. Farms on which potatoes have not been planted since 1943 will be considered "new" potato farms and applications for goals for such farms must be made with the County Triple-A office not later than February 13, 1948.

Yanks Live Behind 'Iron Curtain'

Says Truman Will Back Up on Rights Issue

By LYLE C. WILSON

Washington, Feb. 9—(UP)—One of President Truman's principal advisers predicted today that the administration would back down on civil rights in an effort to appease protesting Southerners.

There was no White House confirmation. This congressional source suggested the president might restate his civil rights program to eliminate a request of legislation to prohibit racial discrimination on railroads and other forms of interstate transportation.

The proposals for anti-lynching and fair employment legislation would remain.

White House conference with protesting Southerners have been forecast as a likely development of the uproar which developed around last week's civil rights message.

Other usually well informed persons held that Mr. Truman would be in serious election-year trouble if any of his racial poll tax or anti-lynching legislation were enacted. His chances of avoiding Southern rebellion against re-election may ultimately depend on the Senate's ability to filibuster the program until it is quite dead.

Mr. Truman should rest fairly easy on that because the Senate probably will filibuster the bills to extinction. If so, the South might be expected to be content with resolutions and a party-jarring protest at the Democratic National convention, still short of a bolt.

Many Southerners want back the two-thirds rule by which they usually were able to impose minor national presidential nominations on the good old days prior to 1936.

The rule provided that a nominee needed a two-thirds majority to take the prize.

Franklin D. Roosevelt engineered abolition of the two-thirds rule after his first nomination in 1932.

The 1932 convention recommended that his successor abolish the rule.

It was done in 1936 when all within the party was sweetness and light and the Roosevelt-Garnier team running for a second term carried the big cornbelt stockyards.

For a single day last April, fog prices reached the lowest level since January, 1947.

Meanwhile, grain prices rose, fell and rose again on the nation's major exchanges. Last week's price nosedived apparently had been checked.

Hog prices dropped $1 to $3 per hundred pounds at the major live-stock terminals and at some points were dropped as much as $4. Livestock experts aid it was the biggest price break since early last year.

At Chicago's huge union stockyards, traders bid $2 to $3 lower on heavy steers. Nervous Farmers have shipped 18,000 head of cattle

Sometime, Somewhere There Must Be Showdown Between Russia and Democracies

By DEWITT MacKENIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Sometime, somewhere, there must be a show-down between the big democratic majority of the United Nations and the Red minorities comprising Russia and her satellites, who thus far have hamstrung the peace organization—and Korea may well furnish an early important (if not definitive) test.

The position leading up to the present disorders in southern Korea is this: At the end of the late war the Korean kingdom of Korea was called, was occupied by American troops in the northern half, and by Americans in the South. It was understood that the aim should be to consolidate the two areas and hold free elections for establishment of an independent Korean government.

Instead of pursuing this policy, Russia sealed off the north from the south completely and communized the Soviet section. At the same time Red agents made an intensive drive to organize Communist cells in the south and have done their best to create unrest among the people.

Korea, being a mighty atom strategically from the military standpoint, is a pivotal point for peace in the Far East. What must astound, then, that the U. N. General Assembly finally should send a commission to Korea with instructions to hold elections throughout the country—meaning both south and north. The Soviet Ukraine occupies a place on the commission.

Well, of course the Russians have refused to permit this commission even to enter northern Korea. Not only that, but a wave of sabotage and bloody political disturbances, aimed at hampering the commission, has swept the United States zone. American sources attribute this trouble to leftists.

The commission now has reported its failure to the U. N. Little Assembly (which sits when the general assembly isn't in session) and has settled back to await the decision. So now the big speculation is what line the little assembly will take.

An American spokesman at Lake Success was quick to express the view that the correct procedure would be to instruct the commission to carry on, that is, to establish a government in southern Korea with the idea that the north could be brought in as soon as possible. That sounds like horse sense and also breathes the urgency and determination with which Secretary of State Marshall himself advocated the creation of the commission by the general assembly.

The old adage that half a loaf is better than none is particularly apt as applied to Korea. For America to abandon the southern Koreans and let the Bolsheviks take them over not only would outrage justice but would place in Russia's hands a powerful weapon for military operations. It was Russian influence in Korea back in 1934 which was the main immediate cause of the Russo-Japanese war, for Nippon maintained that Korea was a "dagger pointing at her heart."

So if the American spokesman at Lake Success is a good prophet, southern Korea will be protected until its people can establish their own government. Probably the protection will be extended beyond that, because it would be highly improbable that the Koreans would want to be left to the mercy of the Soviet forces who already have all intents annexed northern Korea to the Soviet Union. Apropos of this it should be noted that northern Korea adjoins Soviet Siberia not far from the great Russian naval port of Vladivostok.

With the half loaf the U. N. will have to be contented until such time as Russia has a change of heart. The peace organization will at least have done all possible to implement the vast majority of world opinion in these trying times.

nosity party. Mr. Clark's treatment of one of her prominent citizens seems short-sighted as well as high-handed—especially since Dr. Romulo Betancourt, who was Venezuela's president until the December elections, also is reported to be a reformed Communist himself.

Mr. Clark's attitude would not seem so awkward except for our government's treatment of American Communists. Their newspapers operate under no restrictions. The foreign Communist press is restricted severely, or barred.

We read the books and applaud the conversions of such ex-Communists as the American Louis Budenz and the Russian Victor Kravchenko. We do not even permit a Venezuelan ex-Communist to set foot in this country.

These contradictions give the impression that our only source of danger is visiting Communists, which is silly, and that American civil liberties are only for Americans, which doesn't jibe with our world position as champions of freedom. Our attitude cannot fail to create some international ill will.

Communism is a real and obvious danger, at home and abroad. It must be fought. But surely it can be fought with strength, dignity and logic—three qualities which are not very evident in Mr. Clark's visa vetoes.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Feb. 9—(UPI)—Strong rally swept all grain higher on the board of trade today. New buying attracted by the price break.

Some short-covering and lifting of hedges by mills gave the market support. Traders said there was no indication the government was buying cash wheat.

Offerings of cash corn by the country slowed down after the heavy outpouring of the past few days. Bookings were placed at 175,000 bushels. Dealers said there were shipping sales of 50,000 bushels from here which contrasted with shipping sales in the latter part of last week.

Wheat closed 1 cent to 8 cents higher, May $5.57 14-22.56 3.4, corn was 5-3.8 to 8 cents, daily limit, higher, May $2.21 1-2.21, oats were 2 1-4 to 4 1-2 higher, May $1.08 1-2-3-4, and soybeans were 3 to 4 1-4 higher, March $3.57.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Feb. 9—(UPI)—Stocks were heartened here and there today by rallying grains but dealings were among the slowest of the past few months and many leaders reverted to the minus column.

Short-sellers were frequent after a quiet start. Fractional advances well distributed in the forenoon failed to hold in a number of cases as the session proceeded. Slightly irregular tendencies prevailed at the close. Volume tapered off to around 700,000 shares for the full stretch.

Better performers most of the time included Goodyear, Conchord Gulf Oil, Standard Oil (N.J.), United Air Lines, Union Pacific, Douglas Aircraft, Pehps Dodge, Eastern Kodak, General Motors, International Harvester and American Tobacco "B."

Eastward at intervals were Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Steel, Santa Fe, Rock Island Railroad, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Illinois Central, International Paper, Pacific Western Oil and J. C. Penney.

Railway bonds improved.

Clubs

Victory

The Victory Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. William Schooley on Wednesday, February 4 at 2 p.m. with six members and two visitors. Mrs. F. Lloyd and Mrs. Grace Huckabee, present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Clayborne Rowe; devotionals were given by the hostess; roll call was answered by "Who is My Neighbor?"

Plans were made for Home Demonstration Week which will be May 2 through the 8th. The club will cooperate with other clubs in the county in painting mail boxes, improving clothes lines, and in making pajamas for the Arkansas Children's Hospital.

Leader reports were given on poultry culling, pruning shrubbery, and garden tips. A demonstration on litted facings and pointers on other details of construction were given by Miss Mary Dixon, Home Demonstration Agent.

The reorganization period was in charge of Mrs. Huckabee, who is County Council President.

The hostess, with Mrs. O. F. Lloyd as co-hostess, served a sandwich plate carrying out the valentine motif.

Hopewell

The Hopewell Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Leslie Honeycutt, February 3, with nine members and three guests present. The meeting was opened by singing "Row, Row, Row Your Boat." Mrs. Leslie Honeycutt read the devotional. Minutes and treasurer's report were read and approved. The new officers for 1948 were installed and the following chairmen of committees appointed:

Food and Nutrition—Mrs. V. C. Thompson; Gardening—Mrs. O. B. Hodnett; Improving Home Gardens—Mrs. W. G. Wiggins; Poultry—Mrs. Leslie Honeycutt; Food Conservation—Mrs. Rex Johnson; Household Management—Mrs. Neil Ostborn; Clothing—Mrs. W. G. Reese; Home Improvement and Handicraft—Mrs. S. D. Cookel; Child Development—Mrs. C. M. Bittle; Recreational Leader—Mrs. Rex Johnson; Safety—Mrs. Buck Greene.

The meeting places for each month for the following year were decided: Mrs. O. B. Hodnett led the discussion on "Outlook for 1948" and how to prevent colds.

Mrs. Greene won the prize for January. A surprise shower for Mrs. V. C. Thompson was given during recreational time. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

The February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. G. Wiggins.

The Peace Home Demonstration Club met February 3, 1948 at the home of Mrs. Herman Stays. There were five members and Miss Mary Dixon, Home Demonstration

Miss Wilbors came quickly from around her desk and put a firm arm around Janice's slender waist. "Of course she's hurt," she snapped—Miss Wilbors who had never snapped at Dr. Holbrook, or did before. "Do something. Don't just stand there."

She turned to Miss Sylee Fox and Miss Sybil Green. "One of you ladies get some cold water and throw it to Betty Jane's face. We'll need her help later, a hot time for a minute to faint."

A long time, she might have added, for a doctor to give in to his personal feelings. For Dr. Holbrook still behaved like a man in a stupor. He raised one hand to show Miss Wilbors—or anyone who cared to look—that it was trembling like the motor of an old model T Ford.

Filmland Notables Battle It Out Over Woman

Hollywood, Feb. 9—(UPI)—Xavier Cugat's violin playing wasn't quite up to snuff today, he had a sprained finger in a two-punch scuffle with Dress Designer Oleg Cassini, former husband of Screen Actress Gene Tierney.

Cugat said he found his young wife, former Actress Lorraine Alden, dancing in the Moambo with Cassini shortly after midnight Saturday. He invited Cassini to step outside but the scuffling started in the lobby.

Neutral observers said the fight lasted only a few seconds before spectators broke it up. Cugat, 44, said he didn't get the sprained finger hitting a wall—and that the fellow didn't hit me at all." Although spectators accounts varied it was agreed generally that each participant swung once.

"It was hardly a fight, I'd say," commented Cassini, "I just stopped him and pushed him against the wall."

Mrs. Cugat, 29, said she couldn't figure it all out, that Cassini was introduced to her and they were dancing at "Mr. Cassini was saying nice things about Cugat when all of sudden I was pulled off the floor."

"The whole thing is silly," she told a newsman.

Asked whether he and Mrs. Cugat had separated, the bandleader replied: "Not yet."

ings on Jewish charity efforts. The pontiff received a delegation of 23 American Jewish leaders in Europe to survey the problem of Jewish displaced persons.

The survey is part of the United Jewish Appeal which this year seeks to raise $250,000,000 to aid Jews in Europe and Palestine.

The pope, speaking in English,

"We gladly invoke the blessings of God most high on all charitable endeavours which you are undertaking in His name."

May his grace and love help all men to purge this divinist human sentiment and duty of all that would be unworthy of its author and thus bring peace soon to his great human family and ours."

Both TO BLAME

Her memories of your married life are gall and wormwood in her mouth. You were not a loving husband and a tender father. You didn't try to understand her, or to deal with her diplomatically, or to do anything to win and hold her. You lived in an atmosphere of strife and struggle and continual rows and recriminations, so why should you think that your wife would want to come back into such a purgatory?

No doubt your wife was just as much at fault as you were. Eventually she tried as little to make your marriage a success as you did. But two wrongs don't make a right nor do a husband and wife, who are both fighters, make a peaceful home.

There is nothing more tragic in life than that so many husbands and wives throw away the love they have and then break their hearts trying to get it back when it is gone.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl 14 years old and have been married five months. My husband is 22 and he thinks I have to ask him for everything even for permission to go to the grocery store. I don't mind him, he speaks to me. He says he has got to raise me and he is going to do it right. I love him, but I have taken just Afterwards, Miss Susie Fox had come back with the water. Miss Wilbors took it from her and instead of tossing it in Betty Jane's face—Betty Jane had opened her eyes and was struggling to sit up—she threw it on the doctor.

Afterwards, Miss Wilbors could not believe that she had done such a thing. To Dr. Holbrook himself, the doctor could not believe that he had lost control of his nerves for a few minutes.

Betty Jane could not believe that she had fainted, and the only explanation she could give was that she had not slept the night before.

But perhaps the most unbelievable of them all was Janice herself when she woke up on the day she was supposed to have flown to Mexico to find herself in a hospital.

The unforeseen, as Miss Wilbors had foreseen, had indeed come to pass.

"We outfit the Family"

DOROTHY DIX

Dead Love

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a beautiful girl whom I love very much, and we have two small children. We should have been very happy, but we have quarreled over every small matter about as much as I can stand. I think a wife should look up to her husband to a certain extent, but mine has gone too far. I want to buy a good wife. What should I do?

PUZZLED WIFE

ANSWER: I think what you need is to get a rain check on your marriage and go back to school, for certainly no girl of 14 is fit for the duties and responsibilities of marriage. She doesn't know enough about life, nor what kind of a woman she is going to grow up into.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two young men, aged 22 and 27. Our problem is with two older women who are very wealthy and who are in love with us and want us to marry them. They have bought us a new automobile and give us all the spending money we ask for. With all the security they are offering, do you think she should settle down with them, or should we refuse them?

TWO CONFUSED BOYS

ANSWER: Two young men in the very prime of life who are willing to sell themselves for their board and keep evidently put a small valuation on themselves. They do not realize that when a young man marries and old woman for her money that he sells himself into slavery and will be nothing but his wife's handyman. For there is no tyrant on earth greater than a rich old woman who knows she has to buy all the attentions she receives from men.

The Man Who Guided Eire Through Its Worst Years Finally Loses His Power

SWITZER MACKENZIE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

general election has deposed Dr. Valera's Plan of Government, the parliamentary party under which he has guided the new Republic since 1932 through sixteen of its most trying formative years.

Now your correspondent has no desire to poke his head unceasingly into the hornet's nest of Irish politics. However, a discussion of Dr. Valera, the man, is one of the notable contributions of this republic. He has done well these many years.

As a matter of fact, he almost exactly 32 years since he and I all but lost our lives (though playing different roles) in southern Ireland's "Bloody Easter Week Rebellion" of 1916. There was a bitter night in Dublin when the tall, gaunt college professor was shooting at the British troops from a window of Boland's mill in the heart of the city, while your reporter was in the hands of the military — suspected or being a rebel because of an inadvertent violation of rigid martial law.

De Valera was condemned to death and reprieved. For more than an hour the British debated execution for they were shooting tall for doing exactly what I had done — but my American papers finally saved me.

Well, that's the way Dr. Valera goes. He is the man, the prime minister, for he was one of the chief founders of the republic. He also has been an international

was president of the League of Nations assembly. Not all his foreign relations have been happy, for both

America and Britain were angry over his refusal to grant them naval bases on the coast of Eire

during the war, and Washington accused Eire of affording a base for Axis spies by refusing to expel

German and Japanese diplomats.

However, Dr. Valera is a man of strong opinions and not easily swayed. He clung to neutrality. The last time I saw him in Dublin in late 1945, I asked him rather bluntly if Eire's refusal to join

England in the war wasn't largely due to bitterness against the British.

He didn't say yes and he didn't say no, but my personal opinion is that this bitterness was the chief reason.

So far as home affairs go, de

Valera has wrought a vast change in the economic life of Eire. Years ago I used to spend much time in Ireland, both as a reporter and lashing on her, beautiful lakes and streams. The Emerald Isle was lovely to look at and her people were friendly and hospitable—but the farmers and workers as a whole were terribly poor. In many rural districts the main food was potatoes, with a bit of salt, and maybe a little bread. Meat was a rarity to make young eyes glisten.

Hunger was widespread.

Cattle raising for the English market was the sole industry, and agriculture was neglected so that most grain, including wheat for bread, had to be imported. De Valera struck at this system and created a good deal of stility

May, Garson Ask Conviction Be Reversed

Washington, Feb. 9 — (UPI)—Former Rep. Andrew J. May and the two Garson brothers asked the federal court of appeals today to reverse their war fraud convictions.

May and Henry and Murray Garson were convicted last July 3 after an 11-week trial. Each is under sentence of from eight months to two years but has been free on bail pending the appeal.

Attorneys for the men prepared to argue before the appeals court that the trial court erred in limiting defense evidence and witness-ness.

May, a Kentucky Democrat, was wartime chairman of the House

Military Committee. He was convicted of taking $53,000 from the Garsons in return for using his influence to help the extensive

Garson munitions combine.

Among the cattle men, he called for a heavy increase in grain and sugar beet production, with special emphasis on wheat for bread, and the government made cultivation attractive by offering a guaranteed and profitable price for both beets and bread.

The Mo-Pac dispatcher's office at Little Rock said the accident, about three quarters of a mile north of the Corning station, resulted from a broken wheel flange on one of the cars.

Result: Eire today is more prosperous than ever before in history. And officials will tell you that there is no hunger these days.

15 Cars of Train Derailed Near Corning

Corning, Feb. 7 — (UPI)—Fifteen cars of the Missouri Pacific railroad's southbound St. Louis-to-Dallas freight train were derailed near here today. There were no casualties.

Fourteen of the cars, all loaded with assorted merchandise, over turned. Neither the locomotive nor caboose left the tracks.

The Mo-Pac dispatcher's office at Little Rock said the accident, about three quarters of a mile north of the Corning station, resulted from a broken wheel flange on one of the cars.

The cars involved were about 20 cars ahead of the caboose and Cold Continues to Grip East Half of U. S.

Chicago, Feb. 9 — (UPI)—Subnormal temperatures gripped all the eastern half of the United States today as a gale which cost the lives of five seamen in battered shipping along the Pacific northwest blew itself out.

The lives of more than 150 men on eight vessels were imperiled by the 75-mile winds which churned up mountainous seas, grounded one freighter and sank a fishing boat in the Pacific storm area. Numerous sailors and fishermen were reported injured aboard their battered craft.

Three men drowned in the sinking of a fishing craft, another was swept overboard from a tanker, and another drowned when a dinghy capsized.

The weather bureau said the worst of the gale had passed and that the wind, down to 25-30 miles an hour, would abate today.

The Chicago Weather Bureau said the worst of the cold wave was centered in the Midwest where the mercury had skidded to 12 below zero early today at Rockford, Ill., -6 at Moline, Ill., -10 at Duluth, Minnesota and zero at Des Moines, Iowa. Chicago had 2 above zero, New York 12 and Washington 18.

A light cold rain chilled the gulf states eastward from Louisiana to South Carolina.

Morrilton, Feb. 7 — (UPI)—Traffic was restored about 2 a. m. today over the Missouri Pacific line near here, where early yesterday 21 cars of a freight train were derailed.

2000 Reported Killed in India Fighting

By G. MILTON KEY
New Delhi, Feb. 9 — (UPI)—The Indian Army said today 2,000 Moslem raiders were killed Friday in the greatest battle of the Kashmir campaign.

Another 2,000 were declared wounded in the engagement near Macaseria, 50 miles northwest of Jammu, capital of the southern Kashmir province of Jammu.

The predominantly Hindu and Sikh forces of the Indian Army were led by a Moslem, Brig. Muhammad Usman.

An official spokesman said 11,000 attackers struck in waves, using heavy automatic weapons. They were repelled in daylight but came back at night for hand to hand combat featuring sword play. The spokesman did not report Indian losses. Newspaper dispatches said two of the slain appeared to be Hindus.

The army said it captured quantities of munitions and was heavily shelling Moslem positions. Machine gun and mortar fire were returned.

Indian and Kashmir state forces have been fighting Moslem tribesmen in Kashmir since last October. India, in which the state now is included, has accused neighboring Pakistan of supporting the tribesmen. The dispute is before the United Nations Security Council.

In India, two rival Moslem organizations were under government ban today in the latest aftermath to the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

The Khaksars and the Moslem League National Guard were outlawed throughout India yesterday. The former militia said the reason is that they have contributed to communal strife. It accused the accord also of aiming at "disintegrating the country." They are the first Moslem groups declared illegal in Hindu-led India.

The Hindu Bahriya Swami Sevak Sangh (RSS-National Volunteer Corps) was outlawed last Wednesday. The government explained its "cult of violence has
